Abstract

This study dealt with "guarantees of the juvenile accused during the fair trial" to indicate the scope of the guarantees prescribed for the juvenile during the trial phase , where this study tried to answer a set of questions that formed the main and main axes of the study , by employing chapters of this study to answer these questions , where the trial phase is the last stage of the criminal case and the most important because of its attachment to the rights of the juvenile and its great impact on his future and life , which prompted the legislator to provide many basic and important guarantees for the juvenile during this phase.

This study dealt with the guarantees established for juveniles at the trial stage , through the statement of the linguistic , idiomatic and legal concept of juvenile delinquency and the statement of the basis of criminal responsibility for juveniles through the study of the concept of criminal responsibility and the statement of its elements and stages of juvenile criminal responsibility.

The study then examined the provisions of the juvenile's criminal responsibility and highlighted the most important guarantees established for the juvenile at the trial stage and its procedural rules in accordance with the provisions of the Jordanian Juvenile Law

No. 32 of 2014 and its amendments , considering that the juvenile enjoys a certain specificity because the Acts issued by him may result due to the lack of completion of the faculties of perception and awareness.

In conclusion , the study concluded with a set of conclusions and recommendations ,the most important of which is that the guarantees contained in the Jordanian Juvenile Law fall short of providing the necessary legal protection for juveniles.
